PRESIDENT WOULD CHECK DEBATE ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Admits to Congressional Leaders That Situation is Grave.

UNITED STATES TO BE FIRM

Wilson Insists Government Will Uphold Right of Merchantmen in Arm for Defenseless Tents Discussion Might Embarrass State Department.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—President Wilson's conference with the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee and Senator Keay, chairman of the congressional committee dealing with foreign affairs and Senator Keay, chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, was said to have been held in order that the President might inform the congressional leaders on the status of the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare.

The President told the three leaders that while the present situation was grave it was not critical at the present time. It is understood that he does not believe the United States would remain firm in its position that merchantmen have a right to arm for defenseless purposes.

The President does not believe there should be much discussion of the foreign situation in Congress because of the danger of embroiling the negotiations carried on by the State Department.

RUSSIAN PURSUASIVE TURKS
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—Both on the center in the Persian district and on the widely extended northern and southern flanks the Turks are everywhere continuing with energy pursuit of the routed Turks. The Russians are pursuing their attack but only of severing all communications between the new isolated Turkish army groups but of constantly strengthening their communications of their own.

The troops now living in the house on which they had been held captive were moved out into the middle of the floor.

The family now living in the house on which they had been held captive were moved out into the middle of the floor.

The Turks evidently impressed with the gravity of the situation are making preparations to defend to the last extremity. They are retreating from their difficult position before they are surrounded and are making no effort to hold endangered points now in their possession.

The minimum of resistance consisting chiefly of fortifications around each of the Turkish retreats is the most precipitated of the war.

With Musa and Askeri in their power the Russian forces on the southern wing of the front are pushing forward to the southward to ward off the other two old-line, entrenched, Lake Van, which has been the scene of important fighting. The beginning of the Caucasian campaign will rest securely in Russian hands.

The success of Russian operations near Karskhan officially recorded are of importance in respect of the strengthening of communication between the center and the right flank.

WILL BLASSER, DODGE CITY,
KANSAS, Feb. 22.—Confidential advice from Berlin today indicated that Germans soon will inform the United States that her previous neutrality in supporting Allies will not be attacked. British warning holds good for future submarine operations, provided however that such attacks do not carry armament.

The German government will consider the advice of state that what new armament really is offensive armament when submarines are concerned and the United States of what defensive armament it properly may be.

Both British and French fronts are showing signs which give assurances from Germany will be in the nature of reparations of safety for the neutrals that carry even under the terms of the new submarine campaign.

FRANCIS HENRICKSON DOWNS,
ALASKA, Feb. 22.—The crew of the Zembla brought down the French gun boat Ibrahim yesterday as it numbered perished according to the information given by the commandant of the British and Canadian gun boats.

The Zembla was brought to earth by the first shot from an automobile-mounted gun at Astoria the day before.

FRENCH ARMS PENITRIALD,
PARIS, Feb. 22.—French forces yesterday evening delivered a strong attack on the French positions in the forest of Givry, east of Souchez, according to official announcement made by the French war ministry. The French and were successful in capturing the first line of the French trenches.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE AT MOUNT PLEASANT IS BEING RENOVATED

Many Changes Under Way to Make It Both Attractive and Safe.

BUILDING PLANS UNDER WAY

Telephone Office Will be Moved to Make Room for Fred Brothers, and Kehoe-Kern are Pushing Work on the Building Destroyed by Flames.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 22.—H. C. Morrison, manager of the Grand Opera House, yesterday had the Sheriffs and the scenery painters begin work on remodeling and making up the new scenes for the Grand Opera House. The curtain is being repainted and as it is fire-proofed, there will be no change there, but will be made to fit in well with the curtains down below. The lobby will be enlarged, and when completed will make a very attractive entrance to the theater. While the stage is being remodeled, standpipes will be built on the stage and the wings of the theater are protected with the required equipment in the larger cities under over and above the requirements for theaters of this size for the safety of the patrons. At no time while the work is being done will the house be closed. The workmen have put on an extra sheet and this week a second will be put on their own scenery so that next week the house scenery will be ready again.

Fred Bros. & Co., store, The Mutual Telephone Office, will move across the street in the Devore building and the flats over the store will be emptied and the feed store will be enlarged, putting a stock room over the store and making more room in the back.

The Kehoe-Kerns are working on their building and a Woolworth representative is here looking after the building as they are anxious to get into the building as soon as possible. Frank Hutton, architect, is rushing work on the building.

Workmen are engaged roofing and plastering the Swedish Catholic Church on Davis street. When completed this will be one of the prettiest churches in Western Pennsylvania.

The bungalow that is being built for Homer Rumbaugh on College avenue is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy about the first of April.

J. S. Clark, who was injured while playing with the independent baseball team at Scottdale on last Friday evening, has been discharged from the local hospital. The Scottdale team will play its fourth game of the series at the state fair grounds on Friday evening when a large crowd from Scottdale is expected to come over with them. Scottdale has already carried off two of the names.

Mr. Galt L. Sheppard will speak on "Mormonism and the Liquor Traffic," in the Reunion Presbyterian Church on Friday evening.

Mary Steffens, aged two months, daughter of Jacob Steffens of Standard Oil, died yesterday in the Polish cemetery, following funeral services at the Polish Church.

Mrs. William Puro visited Miss Minnie Krouse in Connellsville yesterday.

Mrs. Jennie Coles has returned to her Pittsburgh home after a visit paid Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weller.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When Cross, Feverish and Sick Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child will only not stop playing to scratch the hives and the result is that become thickly coated with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system of cold, heat, sore throat, stomach-ache, diarrhea, etc., etc., etc.

Mother! See if tongue is coated, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs." In a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you will feel well again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a poison bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Be aware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt—Adv.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Billious, Sick, Headache and Constipated.

Get a Decent Box now.

Most old people must live to the bones some regular, else they suffer from constipation. It is just as natural for it to do this as it is to walk straight. For age is never so active as the youth. The muscles are less elastic and the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets,

which are well known to aid weak systems without causing any harm.

This gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important to all ages, but never so much at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physicals, gently, gently help the bowels into activity. But a harsh caring every day will do more harm than good. The only safe and natural aid to the old is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store.

They work while you sleep—Adv.

TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 22, 1916.

QUICK STARTS VAIL FINISH.

There ought to be no reasonable excuse or delay in paying the creditors of J. V. Thompson in the Democratic Creditors Committee under the terms of the proposed agreement. The organization of this reputably agency was quick in its majority of its creditors and quickly agreed to demands to be made by their financial selection. It now constitutes the only liaison through which the resources of Thompson can be conservatively used to the credit of his creditors, may realize any material gain in their claims.

Local residents, in consideration both of their safety and a community point of view, ought therefore, to implore creditors to take prompt action. The total liabilities are so large that the day-to-day accumulations of interest and taxes comprise a heavy load which cannot be easily borne. It is a responsibility to keep open a liquidation to be paid out of the assets because they are at present practically without income. A certain utilization also rests upon the creditors to allow themselves to be repaid in full by the administration of the benefits which will accrue in a large way to the communities in which the Thompson properties are located by an early distribution of his affairs.

In the interests of both those directly and those indirectly concerned, the bank which should then should start in order to insure a safe finish. This is the more urgent because it will doubtless have a long and trying journey to make.

PAINTER WILSON.

Nothing can stop Wilson's upward movement. He has now reached the top of the market of Javabite pictures. Like so far advanced in the purpose of his work, he is now engaged in a new field, under a general deal of what will wait and complete.

The purpose of the work is to encourage distinguished artists to make settlements of their accounts and with the proper set-together spark existing between the creditors and the debtors there can be no trouble in getting to the top.

The creditors in most cases can probably afford to offer lower terms and higher inducements. Connellsville merchants who are advised have already done so. The result is a special sale for Painter's Work.

Debtors who come at hand to pay up will find some latitude worth considering. They will have to bring all their powers of resistance to bear or they will be held in debt as long as ever.

It will however be new business and new business is what the merchants desire. If their debtors pay up their old accounts they will only too gladly give them fresh credit for a new account.

TOO CONTRACTED.

The statistics of the annual report of the mine Inspector of the nine Pennsylvania districts are not interesting chiefly because there is nothing to compare with the record of the last year in any particular mining district.

The mining districts of this state are divided without regard to territorial or regional lines with the result that one district may include mines in the Connellsville coke region and the Somersett coal region, in the Pittsburgh district, in the Lower Connellsville coke region and the Pittsburg coal district. Others may include mines in the Connellsville, Pittsburgh and Greensburg districts. Pittsburgh has come to be held the geological features and the commercial divisions but only the consequences of grouping the mines for the election of an Inspector of all which indicates that the view of the state mining department has never been so broad and comprehensive as it might and might have been.

THE DRY INDUSTRY.

The opposition to certain by-products of coking has attained to the destructive stage because of the fact of munition of war, and the pity of it is that this incendiary threatens to destroy America's budding dye industry.

Germans may or may not be responsible for the destruction of certain products of our coke plants, while we are ourselves responsible for the manufacture of high explosives as well as the materials for the manufacture of dyes. It can be well understood how there could be temptation to prevent a permanent ban on warfares and other operations in the industrial community by measures which could not be justified in time of peace, and which are hard to justify now.

WORLD'S FAIR IN CHICAGO.

The Democratic platform of 1912 contained a similar plank.

We favor a single Presidential term and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the President of the United States ineligible for reelection and we pledge the candidate of this convention to support such an amendment.

I hereby consent to the use of my name as candidate for the Presidency," says Woodrow Wilson in a communication to the Secretary of State for Ohio in January 1916.

Woodrow wouldn't bitch. He has demonstrated that he is a bigger man than his party, but he has not shown us that his party is bigger than the people.

REPUBLICAN APPOINTMENTS.

The Connellsville News prints the following remarkable editorial document:

"Last night Bob wants to go back to Washington. He has fallen in with a Penrose plan which he has adopted.

He and Bob Notes are writing to secret Democrats that they are potential influences in Washington and that anyone seeking appointments should approach them.

Fact is Hopwood and Penrose are without influence in the capital.

Those who seek appointments Democrats seeking appointment they had better keep clear of the machinations

of Penrose and the now powerful

Democrats are seeking appointments for themselves. It is bad for Republicans.

Hopwood may attempt to get even more influence. He may even leave off his white shirt and buy a pair of sneakers. He will not be able to help it and apply pressure for appointment and influence and therefore warned to keep clear of the hot playing fox. He is coming to be very busy indeed.

Senator Penrose and Congressman

Hopwood are not writing to any constituents advising them that they considered any appointments which they do not actually dictate. Any official who would be worse than hell and which most of us would have been in political contact not to be foolish.

Strange as it may seem Congressmen

Hopwood has two appointments right now under a Democratic administration and is obliged to recommend two others for the Ambridge

Sand Academy and being prompt in the transaction of his public business

he has already named them.

It might be added that no other recommendations will be considered

MAKES MUNITIONS OF WAR.

William Ellis Corry is the only steel magnate who apparently wants it understood that he is in the business of manufacturing armaments and especially in it after the European war is over. The company which absorbs the Midvale and the Cambria companies will be known as the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Company. It has been in the possession of the Corry family for 10 years and expects to remain in it unless Senator Hillman and the Democratic administration takes possession of the company's plans and operates it in the name of the people in the meantime the company will be managed by a trustee and expended.

THE DRY AND LIVING COSTS.

The operation of the Democratic Tariff is practically identical with the figures for the duration of the corresponding period of 1912 under a Republican

Tariff. The total value of our imports for each period is approximately $1,

000,000,000. The customs department estimated $1,011,921 and under the Democrat Tariff $150,671,000, a falling of $108,000,000 at 4% of the imports by 1912 come in first as against 5% under the public administration and High Cost of Living is higher than ever.

THE ENDING OF THE EUROPEAN WAR

would end some embarrassing diplomatic questions which are just now settled right.

The English bachelors have been called out.

GIRLS—DO YOU KNOW
WHY YOUR HAIR
IS UGLY?

Absent Moore, the noted beauty authority, says: "The hair is a register of the physical condition. Cleaning and massage, as well as careful combing and brushing are most important."

Many women do not realize the necessity of keeping the hair and scalp absolutely clean in order to look their best at all times. And yet, with only a few minutes of tonic massage, the hair is brought to a beautiful, lustrous luster, and that at very little cost.

Just try these few simple directions
today: Into the palm of the hand pour a little Parlor Salve, a rightly guaranteed preparation, and then apply it to the head. After a few moments allow the scalp to be thoroughly wet, then vigorously until a soft tingling sensation comes stealing over the head.

Then gently brush with the tonic and gently brush out the hair.
You will surely be surprised and delighted with the results.

The genuine Parlor Salve is obtainable from A. A. Clarke, who affords it with an absolute guarantee of perfect satisfaction to the user or the money paid will be returned.—Adv.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way.

People who are overburdened with superfluous fat, know only too well that overweight people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unnecessary fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your body.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way without affecting the complexion, there is but one method.

Watch yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

With care and attention to your health,
it is pleasant to take and helps digestion.

Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. Footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier, and a lighter atmosphere surrounds you which takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

CHAPTER XVII.

Love in Absence.

"Poor Prince!" she sighed pitifully. "He started. "This remark was so unexpected that he almost betrayed himself. It seemed profoundly personal. "He will be in very hot water, I fear."

He regarded her coldly. "And you want to be on hand to see him squirm, I suppose?"

She took instant alarm. Was she going too far? Her ebony was somewhat disconcerting.

"To be perfectly frank with you, Mr. Schmidt, I am going to Graustark because no one will ever think of looking for me in such an out of the way place. I am serious now, so you must not laugh at me. Circumstances are such that I prefer to seek happiness after a fashion of my own. At least, I do love him, but they will not understand me. You know that my father fears that I may marry a man distasteful to him, and I suppose to my mother, although she is not so."

"Are his fears well founded?" he asked, suddenly interrupting her. "Is there a man that he has cause to fear? Bedelia?"

"Please interrupt me if I want you to know that I am not running away from home, that I shall return to it when I see fit and that I am not in love with the man they suspect."

She was very serious, very intense. He laid his hand on hers, and she did not withdraw it. Emboldened, his hand closed upon the dainty fingers, and an instant later they were borne to his lips.

"You have said that I came here in search of a light adventure," he whispered, holding her hand close to his cheek as he bent nearer to her. "You imply that I am a trifler, a light of love. You want me to understand me better. I came here because I—"

"Stop!" she pleaded. "You must not say it. I am nervous—no, I know that you are serious too. But you must wait. If you were to say it to me now I should have to send you away—and, believe me, I do not want to do that. I—"

"You love no one else," he cried rapidly.

She swayed slightly, as if incapable of resisting the appeal that called her to his heart, and she secretly braced herself to meet him.

"I love no one else."

A less noble nature than this would have seized upon the advantage offered by her sudden weakness. Instead, he drew a long, deep breath, straightened his figure, and he gently released the imprisoned hand.

She spoke softly. "It is too soon for us to judge each other. I must be sure—oh! I care but little of myself. Can you understand?" Now, I must go in. No, do not just me stay—let me go alone. I prefer it so. Good night, to-morrow."

He took up the letter pass. "Good night, my princess," he said, clearly and distinctly. She shot it with a glance into his eyes, smiled faintly, and moved away.

This kiss went by, but there was not a word of love passed between these two who waited for the fruit to ripen. They were never alone together. Always they were attended by the calm, keen eyes Mrs. Guston. On the third day he was convicted of duplicity. She went off for a walk alone. When she came in after an absence of at least two hours the girl went up to her room without so much as a word with him. Her face was flushed and she snatched her hand from his. He was greatly distressed.

The prince was now explained. He waited for her on the staircase as she came down alone to dinner.

"You tell me that your friends were not in interlaken, Mr. Schmidt," she said coldly. "Why did you feel called upon to deceive me?"

He hit his lip. For an instant he reflected, and then gave an evasive answer. "I think I told you that I was alone in this hotel, Miss Gulle. My friends are at another hotel. I am not aware that—"

"I was morally certain that they were here. Today my suspicions were justified. I encountered Mr. Totten in the park beyond the Jungfrubauk. He was very much upset, I can assure you, but he recovered with amazing swiftness. We sat on one of the benches in a nice little nook and had a long, long talk. He is a charming man. I have asked him to come to luncheon with us tomorrow and to bring Mr. Dank."

"Good Lord, will wonders never—"

She laid her hand gently upon his arm and a serious sweetness came into her eyes.

"Come, who said, 'let us go in ahead of Mrs. Guston. Let us have just one little minute to ourselves,' Mr. Schmidt?"

When Mrs. Guston joined Robin and Bedelia at the table, which had been set for them in the saloon a mansion, she laid several letters before the girl, who picked them up instantly and glanced at the superscription on each.

"You will forgive me, Mr. Schmidt," she said, seriously. "I must look at this."

suppose I shall now have to face my people with the confession and added, "this is one of our gala days."

Mr. Blithers. You could have arrived at a time more opportune. I have taken the precaution to reserve chairs for you on the veranda. The procession will pass directly in front of the hotel on its way to Castle avenue."

"What procession?" demanded Mr. Blithers.

"The prince is returning today from his trip around the world," said the manager.

"He ought to have been back long ago," said Mr. Blithers wrathfully.

"She has disappeared, blithely, quite effectually. That is all I can say," said Gourou and Robin was conscious of a sudden chill and the rush of cold moisture to his brow.
